Public meeting to discuss Kincaid siltation problem

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources will hold a public meeting to discuss siltation problems in Kincaid Lake at 7 p.m., Tuesday, August 21. The meeting will be held at the Multipurpose Building at Kincaid State Park near Falmouth. Doors open at 6 p.m.

Department staff and engineering consultants will discuss conclusions of studies that examined several options that would alleviate problems associated with increased areas of shallow water around the lake due to siltation. The most cost-effective options is to modify the spillway height to raise the lake by 1.7 feet. Department staff are seeking public input regarding this option prior to the meeting.

Interested persons may fill out a questionnaire regarding Kincaid Lake prior to the meeting by several methods. Online, visit the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website at fw.ky.gov for a link to the questionnaire or go directly to the questionnaire at: https://www.research.net/S/Kincaid\_Lake\_Public\_Input.

Those without Internet access may respond to the questionnaire by calling Kentucky Fish and Wildlife at 502-564-7109 ext. 4527. Questionnaires are also being mailed this week to adjacent property owners and other interested persons.

Pendleton County Sheriff's Department confiscated marijuana plants

Pendleton County Sheriff's Deputy Wayne Dutle, left, and Deputy Jared Brewer pulled up 13 marijuana plants from three different locations out in the county on Wednesday, August 1. One of their tips came from the tipline on the sheriff's web site and also a person called in to give them information. Deputy Brewer ask if anyone knows where some plants are growing to call the Pendleton County Sheriff's Department at (859) 654-4511 or go to the sheriff's web site: Sheriff.pendletoncounty.ky.gov and at the top click on the tipline and enter the information. All names and information are kept anonymous. Photo by D. Dennie.

Pendleton Wildcats gearing up for a strong soccer season

By: Sam McClanahan, Reporter

As the calendar turns over to August the dog days of summer begin to give way to the start of fall sports season for high schools all across the country.

Over the past few weeks the Pendleton County Wildcats soccer team has been completing its pre-season schedule, earning a silver medal in Bluegrass Games and taking on last year's state runner-up Ryle this past weekend at Soccerama.

Head coach Lisa Feltner comes into her fourth season with high hopes for the club. She leads a total of 41 players between freshman, junior varsity and varsity ranks and is optimistic that the 'Cats can compete for a district and regional title.

"I like what I am seeing with the guys. There is plenty of talent all over the field for us and I feel that we can be just as successful as the teams we've fielded over the last few years," said Feltner.

The 'Cats notched a pair of shutout wins a couple of weeks ago at Bluegrass Games, a pre-season exhibition held in Lexington, knocking off Paris 3-0 and Simon Kenton 5-0 before falling to Thomas Nelson High 3-2 in the gold medal game. The pre-season games serve as a trial and error period for Feltner, who likes to tinker with her defensive formations as well as finding the right niche for each player she puts on the field.

"This year I'm going to start the season with junior CJ Osbourne at goalie. He has been outstanding so far in pre-season and in practice, and I'm expecting a big year from him," said Feltner.

Osbourne takes over the goalie spot which has been manned for the last two years by senior Jacob Farwell. Feltner feels that

Construction on the new bridge continues

Semi-trailer trucks hauled several large I-beams through downtown Falmouth to the construction site of the new bridge that will cross the Licking River into Shoemakertown, Wednesday, August 1. Cranes slowly unloaded the massive girders, which measure nearly 100 feet in length and weigh 50,000 pounds, and positioned them atop the new abutment on the Falmouth side of the river. The picture above shows the enormity of the I-beams and the huge project workers have taken on in order to complete this much-needed improvement to the county.

Local law enforcement officer awarded for seat belt and child restraint enforcement

The Kentucky Office of Highway Safety (KOHS) today honored 126 law enforcement officers from 123 agencies across the commonwealth for their efforts to increase the use of seat belts and child restraints.

The second annual Governor's Occupant Protection Awards ceremony was held in Lexington. Awards were presented to officers with the most occupant protection citations in each agency and division.

Falmouth Police Department Captain Roger Nowakowski won the award.

"Despite a wealth of data showing that seat belts and child restraints save lives, each year hundreds of unrestrained motorists lose their lives on Kentucky roadways," said KOHS Director Bill Bell, who presented the awards. "These officers, their departments and agencies render a great service for public safety by enforcing our occupant protection laws."

There were 721 total highway fatalities in Kentucky in 2011 with 576 killed in motor vehicles. Fifty-eight percent of those killed in motor vehicles were not wearing a seat belt.

"Our law enforcement is making a difference, as Kentucky's seat belt usage rate increased by 1.5 percentage points in 2012 – to 83.7 percent from 82.2 percent in 2011," said Bell. "However, there is still a great deal of work to be done. One fatality is too many."

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), seat belts, when worn correctly, are proven to reduce the risk of fatal injury to front-seat occupants by 45 percent – and by 60 percent in pickups, SUVs and minivans. Also according to NHTSA, child restraints reduce the risk of fatal injury by 71 percent for infants and by 54 percent for toddlers in passenger cars and by 58 percent and 59 percent, respectively, in light trucks.

Pendleton Sheriff Department recovers stolen goods

The Pendleton County Sheriffs Office, along with Dayton Police Department Officers Mark Antrobus and Alex Biddle, executed a search warrant on Palestine Road and recovered a large amount of property which had been stolen from several counties and townships in Ohio. Types of property recovered were two walk behind mowers, utility trailers, gps and generator. Additional carpenters tools, nail guns, wrenches, an enclosed trailer, and a Kawaski ATV was confiscated waiting verification of being stolen property. The search warrant took approximately eight hours to obtain and execute on the property. Sheriff Craig Peoples, Chief Deputy Todd Dennie, Sergeant Jared Brewer, and Deputy TJ Hawks assisted in the search. Charges are pending at this time against the suspect or suspects.

Craft Corner

Back to school crafts for fun start to the year

It's that time of year again for school Here are some craft ideas to get your student ready for the new year!

PENCIL KIT

Our organizer safely keeps pencils together in one place and rolls up, too, making it compact enough to tote to school and back. We used an old place mat for extra sturdiness and a cheerful design, and added shoelaces instead of ribbons for the ties.

How to:

You will need a place mat that is approximately 18 inches wide. Lay it facedown; fold the right edge over to be 2 inches short of the left edge. Pin in place (see below). Use a ruler and a washable marker to draw parallel lines perpendicular to the fold, about 1 inch apart. Fold a shoelace in half, and tuck its fold between the layers at the midpoint of one side. Next, sew up the two sides of the pouch -- the shoelace will be sewn in -- and along the parallel lines. Slide pencils into the compartments, and roll the case toward the shoelace side, then tie the laces.

TREE BARK PEN HOLDER

Glass or ceramic containers get a rustic makeover when wrapped with tree bark, which can be found in the woods as well as ordered online.

Tools and Materials

- Sturdy cylindrical container
- Tree bark
- Scissors
- Wax twine
- How to:

1. Choose a container that matches the height of the bark.
2. Wrap the piece of bark around the container. For a more finished look, trim the bottom of the bark with scissors to make an even line.
3. Secure bark by wrapping wax twine several times around the container. Knot and snip the ends of the twine.

FELT PENCIL CASE

To make a pencil case, cut a 2 1/2-by-18-inch rectangle of felt; fold up bottom 6 inches. To sew, use embroidery thread and a needle with a large eye. Stitch up the sides with a running stitch: Pass needle up from back to front, then reinsert needle to back; repeat making short stitches. Finish with a knot in back. Fold over flap; add a button, and snip a buttonhole. To cover a 3-by-5-inch notebook, cut an 11-by-5 1/2-inch rectangle of felt with pink-ing shears. Center open book on felt; fold ends over covers. Sew top and bottom edges with a running stitch. For a closure, sew a button to front and add a thread loop to back.

LEATHER ACCESSORY: DAYPLANNER

There are many reasons leather is the best material for everything from day planners to checkbook covers: It's durable and weather resistant, conforms to different shapes, and develops a soft, well-worn feel. But perhaps the best reason is that you can easily fashion little luxuries from it yourself. Making you own accessories costs far less than buying the finished products, and you can use surprising colors and details that you won't find in a store.

Leather is forgiving to work with -- it doesn't fray, so there's no need to finish edges, and if you purchase a 1/16-inch or thinner hide, it can be fed through a sewing machine. You'll need sturdy poly-cotton thread, a leather needle, and a Teflon pressure foot, which will keep the leather steady. Raise the tension according to your sewing machine's instructions, and make the stitches slightly longer than you would with fabric, to prevent the leather from tearing. Mark lines by scoring with a bone folder before sewing.

Tools and Materials:

- One hide (5 1/2 square feet) leather

Looking Back

25 Years Ago

August 11, 1987

Stanley and Mary Jo Wodar-cyzk and children, Jason, Tonya and Jennifer of near Baltimore, Maryland came to visit Kyle and Betty Hedrick (Mary's parents) of Butler and attended church services with them at the But-ler United Methodist Chuch on Sunday morning.

Mr. Wesley P. Gaunce of Cin-cinnati, a cousin of Betty Bell of Falmouth, won first place and Judge's Choice at the Licking Valley Auto Association of Fal-mouth's 5th Annual Car Show on Sunday, August 2 with his beauti-ful 1929 Essex.

Dana Pugh, 19, of Pendleton County was second runner-up among 14 participants in the 1987 "Miss Kentucky Rural Elec-tric" contest held August 3 at the Galt House in Louisville. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Pugh.

Grants Lake Intermediate Care Home in Butler raised over $200 recently to help the Ameri-can Heart Association in its fight against Kentucky's number one killer-cardiovascular disease and stroke.

A host of nearly 700 friends, neighbors and admirers gathered Friday to bid farewell to country music star and Northern Ken-tucky native Kenny Price at his funeral in Heritage Fellowship Assembly of God, Florence. Price was a 1949 graduate of Morgan High School in Pendleton Coun-ty.

Flora McAtee, who previously resided in Falmouth for over 60 years, will be celebrating her 96th birthday August 25, 1987.

Natural gas service in Pend-leton County was briefly inter-rupted Thursday afternoon when a misdirected earth-mover at an AA Highway construction site bumped a gas main near Peach Grove.

A Grants Lick pilot and his passenger were able to walk away from an emergency landing Sun-day afternoon.

50 Years Ago

August 17, 1962

Tragedy struck twice at the John F. Messmer farm on the Brooksville road Monday after-noon between 4:30 and 5 p.m. when fire of undetermined ori-gin destroyed a hay barn of Mrs. Messmer. A few minutes later, when the fire was at its peak, Mrs. Messmer became suddenly ill, suffered a heart attack and passed on.

Mr. Will Bentle, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bentle and Kenneth Bentle were visitors of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bentle of Lawrenceburg, Ind.

The new Mt. Vernon school house was finished last Friday and is one of the prettiest and most convenient in this county. The patron of the district should feel proud of their new school house. H.H. Mains and J.N. Shields did the work.

- No-slip ruler
- Rotary cutter
- Multipurpose cement
- Poly-cotton thread
- Sewing machine equipped for leather
- Leather hole punch
- 1/2-inch binder rivets
- 7-inch 6-ring spine
- Rivet setter
- Mallet
- Paper inserts
- Grommet kit or elastic cording (optional)

How to:

1. For standard refills (6 3/4 by 3 3/4 inches), use a rotary cutter to cut a rectangle of leather that is 10 3/8 by 7 1/8 inches. Mark the mid-point of the length, and score with the bone folder. For the closure, cut

- a 3 1/2-by-1-inch tab to fit in a 3-by-1/4-inch strip.
2. Cement a 1/4 inch of the tab halfway up the inside of the back cover of the planner; let dry, and then sew. Cement the strip halfway up the outside of the front cover; let dry, and sew ends. For side flaps, cut two 3 1/4-by-7 1/8-inch pieces. Cement them on all but the inside long edge; let dry, and then sew all around, leaving a 1/4-inch border.
4. Backstitch at start and finish. Place the spine on the halfway point, mark each hole with a pencil, and punch out marks with a hole punch. Align bar over holes, and stick rivet posts through each one; snap the cap pieces onto posts from the other side. Position rivet setter over each rivet head, and pound them into place with the mallet. Fill binder with paper inserts. Use flaps to store loose items.

OIL CLOTH MESSENGER BAG

This sturdy, waterproof, and stain-resistant bag takes full advantage of the many virtues of oilcloth -- an ingenious and inexpensive vinyl-permeated cotton-mesh fabric that's available in various colors and patterns. What's more, once you've assembled the required materials, this stylish accessory takes only about ten minutes to make.

Tools and Materials

- Bag's intended contents: books, magazines, etc.
- Ruler or tape measure
- Pencil
- Scissors
- 1/3 yard oilcloth
- #18 heavy-duty needle
- 60 inches nylon webbing
- Fray Check

How to:

1. To determine the desired size of the bag, measure your books, magazines, or the bag's other intended contents. Add about 3 inches to the width measurement for the seam allowance and to allow extra room. Add about 2 inches to the length measurement, and multiply that number by three, to determine the length; this will ensure that the you have enough material for the front and back sides of the bag, the flap closure, and the seam allowance. Cut the oilcloth to the measure-ments.
2. Using a #18 heavy-duty needle and setting the tension to 6 on your sewing machine, sew a hem on the top and bottom edges of the oil-cloth. (It's always a good idea to test the tension first on a scrap piece of oilcloth.) Cut a piece of nylon webbing for the strap to the desired length, and apply Fray Check to both ends. Lay the oilcloth down on your workspace with the inside facing out. Fold the bottom end of the bag up a little more than one third of the way, then fold the flap down.
3. To attach the strap, first turn the bag over. Starting with one end of the strap at the bottom of the bag's back side, lay the nylon down about 1/2 inch from the side edges on both sides, making sure the strap isn't twisted. Mark the strap at both the bottom and the top to indicate where it will be sewn. Sew an "X" inside a square at both the top and bottom of each side of the strap. Sew the nylon webbing onto the oilcloth on both sides.
4. Fold the bag up one third of the way so that it's inside out, and sew both sides of the bag, leaving a 1/4-inch seam allowance. Turn the flap seam allowance under 1/4 inch, and sew. Turn the bag inside out again, and fill it with your supplies.
5. If your bag gets dirty, don't put it in the washing machine; instead wipe the bag with a sponge dampened in warm soapy water, and dry with a soft cloth. If the bag creases while in storage, lay it flat, and it will smooth out shortly.

Locals meet pro golfer on vacation

While visiting Dwain Paynter in Jefferson, Indiana, Bonnie Cahill and Joyce Brown decided to golf a round. During the sixth hole directly across from Cahill and Brown they spotted Fuzzy Zoeller. Paynter happens to live in the covered bridge community where Fuzzy Zoeller's golf course is located. Picking up their golf balls and rushing in his direction the ladies asked Zoeller for a photo. Fuzzy's response to their request was simply, "I take pictures with good looking women all the time." They remarked about how nice and gracious Fuzzy was as he politely stood for a handful of photographs. Shown above, from left: Bonnie Cahill, Fuzzy Zoeller, Joyce Brown and Dwain Paynter.

"George Jefferson" passes away at 74

Sherman Hemsley, who famously played George Jefferson in the hit TV show The Jeffersons, has died. He was 74 years old.

A cause of death has not been confirmed for the actor, who helped make The Jeffersons a hit, playing the brash and cocky lead character.

Jefferson and his wife, whom he affectionately called "Weezy," were the center of a hard-scrabble-turned-success story that won the affection of viewers.

The show was a spinoff of All in the Family, which Hemsley also appeared on. Hemsley went on to star in the TV shows Amen as Deacon Ernest Frye and 227 as Thurmond Fox and made guest and starring appearances on several other popular TV shows and movies.

But it was The Jeffersons that fans most readily identify with, even more than 25 years after the end of the show's run.

Hemsley's character was a household name during the 1970s and 1980s, a character so iconic that people often can remember it before they remember Hemsley's real name.

Hemsley was also a professional singer and released a record titled Ain't That a Kick in the Head in 1989, followed by an R&B album called Dance.

Hemsley was born Feb. 1, 1938, in Philadelphia and turned to acting while a young student in school.

He made his professional acting debut in the Broadway play Purlie. After touring with the play for one year, Norman Lear invited Hemsley in 1971 to audition for a role in a new sit-com, All in the Family.

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Pendleton Circuit Court rendered June 8, 2012 and an Order dated August 1, 2012, in the above action, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Pendleton County Judicial Center at Falmouth, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder at public auction on August 23, 2012 at the hour of 10:00 a.m., the following described property:
Property Address: 315 Main Street, Falmouth, Pendleton County, Kentucky

Fronting on Main Street and being north part of part of Lot No. 33 and the south part of Lot No. 32, as designated on the plan and plat of said City of record in Deed Book "B" at Page 298, Pendleton County Court Records. Beginning on Main Street with the line of C. A. Barrett to D. M. Daugherty; thence with the line of D. M. Daugherty to the line of F. M. Shoemaker; thence with the line of F. M. Shoemaker; thence with the line of F. M. Shoemaker to Main Street; thence with Main Street to the beginning. The lots front about 47 feet on Main Street, and run back about 95 feet, but Grantor does not warrant the number of feet conveyed.

Being the same property conveyed to Amy Ishmael and Kelly Sullivan, both unmarried, by Deed dated February 27, 1998, and recorded in Deed Book 210, Page 83, in the Office of the Clerk aforesaid, and also being the same property conveyed to Kelly Sullivan by Deed dated January 22, 1999, and recorded in Deed Book 217, Page 360, in the Office of the Clerk aforesaid.

This property is being sold to produce the sum of $73,479.47, together with interest at the rate of 7.990% per annum from May 1, 2010 until June 8, 2012, and then at the rate of 7.990% per annum thereafter until paid; plus late charges of $343.20; plus the further sum of $388.01 representing sums advanced by the Plaintiff pursuant to the mortgage; plus a reasonable attorney's fee of $1,100.00; plus court costs herein expended and expenses of sale.

The property shall be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

- 1) The purchaser shall be required to pay ten percent (10%) of the purchase price on the date of the sale, to apply on the purchase price;
- 2) The balance of the purchase price shall be due and payable, in cash or certified funds, within sixty (60) days from the date of sale;
- 3) The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety thereon for the unpaid balance of the purchase price, said bond to bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, until paid;
- 4) The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal, together with all accrued interest thereon;
- 5) The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay any and all ad valorem taxes on the subject property for 2012, and all subsequent taxes;
- 6) The purchaser shall be required to purchase fire and extended coverage insurance on any insurable improvements on the real estate from the date of sale until the purchase price is paid in full to the extent of the court appraised value of said improvements or the unpaid balance of the purchase price, whichever is less, at a minimum, with a loss clause payable to the Master Commissioner of the Pendleton Circuit Court or the Plaintiff herein.
- 7) The subject property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and claims of any party to this action, except restrictions and easements thereon appearing of record in the Pendleton County Clerk's Office, if any;
- 8) Possession of the subject property shall be given to the purchaser upon confirmation of Commissioner's sale, and the Defendants or any persons claiming through them shall have vacated the premises by that time; and
- 9) Said property shall be sold subject to:
  - a) Assessments for public improvements levied against the subject property,
  - b) Existing zoning ordinances, statutes, laws or regulations;
  - c) Any facts which an accurate survey or inspection of the property may disclose.

Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

KASPER Law, what does that even mean?

Answering those frequently asked questions about the KASPER system

KASPER is a reporting system designed to be a source of information for practitioners and pharmacists and an investigative tool for law enforcement. KASPER is not intended to prevent people from obtaining needed drugs or decrease the number of doses dispensed.

What is KASPER? The Kentucky All Schedule Prescription Electronic Reporting System (KASPER) tracks controlled substance prescriptions dispensed within the state. A KASPER report shows all scheduled prescriptions for an individual over a specified time period, the prescriber and the dispenser. Enhanced KASPER (eKASPER) provides Web-based access to KASPER data.

Who may request a KASPER report? A prescriber for medical treatment of existing or prospective patients, a pharmacist for pharmaceutical treatment, a law enforcement officer with an active investigation, a licensure board for a licensee, Medicaid for a Medicaid recipient, a grand jury by subpoena, and a judge, probation or parole officer administering a drug diversion or probation program.

What does a KASPER report show? The report will show information for all the scheduled prescriptions a patient has had for the specified time period, as well as the prescriber who prescribed them and dispenser who dispensed them.

Will a KASPER report show out of state prescriptions? Only pharmacies licensed by the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy are required to report any controlled substance prescriptions dispensed to the KASPER program. The Kentucky Board of Pharmacy licenses mail order pharmacies so we do have their data available.

What can I do with the report once I get it? A prescriber or dispenser may discuss the information contained in the report with the patient for whom the report was generated, with another health care provider treating the patient, with the dispenser who dispensed the medication, or with law enforcement if there is cause. However, a health care provider may not share the actual report with anyone including the patient. We advise against storing a KASPER report with patient medical records, however if a health care provider does place a KASPER report with a patient's medical records, the report should be clearly marked "DO NOT COPY". A KASPER report should never be included with a copy of a patient's medical records when sent to another health care provider. A KASPER report contains protected health information under HIPAA, and is not considered a public record pursuant to KRS 218A.202. Providing a KASPER report to a patient is a class D felony under KRS 218A.202.

A law enforcement officer may share the information contained in the report and/or the report with other law enforcement officers as long as they are both involved in a bona fide drug related investigation pertaining to the subject of the report. If a law enforcement office chooses to share KASPER data and/or a report, the law enforcement officers are required to record in writing each person to whom the data/report has been given or received as well as the date the data/report was given or received. Each party must maintain a log of the transaction.

Any other authorized KASPER user may not provide or share a report with anyone unless specifically allowed in KRS 218A.202.

Knowing disclosure of KASPER data to a person not authorized to receive the data under KRS 218A.202 is a class D felony.

When are KASPER reports available? Reports are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and are typically available within 15-20 seconds unless review by a staff pharmacist is required, in which case the report will be available by the next business day.

I have a patient that had a prescription last week, why is that not on there? Under Kentucky Statutes, dispensers have 8 days from the date a controlled substance is dispensed to report the information to KASPER. Based upon the new data collection process implemented in February 2008, we are receiving a significant amount of data within one day, and most dispensed controlled substance prescription data typically is available in KASPER within five to six days after the date of dispensing. If a prescription is not reflected in a KASPER report within that time, it is typically from a dispenser that still takes eight days to report, and it should be reflected in KASPER within nine days after it was dispensed. If you are aware of a controlled substance prescription that has not been reflected in KASPER within nine days, please contact the Drug Enforcement and Professional Practices Branch at (502) 564-7985 so they can determine the reason.

Why are the controlled substance prescriptions I am writing for this individual not showing up on the KASPER report? Prescription data may not show up in a KASPER report if the patient can not be identified because of erroneous information given to the dispenser, the dispenser is not reporting to the KASPER system, the patient is going across state lines to fill the prescriptions, or the requested data range is not currently available. If you become aware of any dispenser not submitting data, or submitting inaccurate data, to the KASPER system, please contact the Drug Enforcement and Professional Practices Branch at (502) 564-7985.

As a health care provider, what do I do if I suspect diversion? If you suspect an individual is involved in diverting controlled pharmaceutical substances, we ask that you please report them to the proper law enforcement authorities. If you are unsure of who that may be, please contact the Drug Enforcement and Professional Practices Branch at (502) 564-7985.

How is this information safeguarded? The enhanced system requires an extensive registration process, the data provided by the enrolling entity is verified by independent source systems, and the KASPER system includes financial institution level security features and is compliant with HIPAA and KRS 218A.202. Any violation or breach of access or usage guidelines will result in the Office of the Inspector General initiating an internal review to verify the breach or misuse, and refer the information to the Kentucky State Police for appropriate action.

Who benefits the most from using the KASPER system? The primary beneficiaries of KASPER are patients throughout Kentucky. Because of KASPER, health care providers can make better and more informed treatment decisions that allow them to provide the most appropriate medical care for their patients. However ultimately all the citizens of the Commonwealth benefit through the ability to provide improved medical care and to reduce the abuse and diversion of controlled substance prescription drugs, safeguarding our health care dollars and making the commonwealth a safer place to live.

Free hearing screenings at Kentucky State Fair

Frankfort — More than 28 million Americans suffer from some degree of hearing loss. That number is expected to double by 2030. Kentucky currently ranks third per capita nationally with more than 650,000 people who are identified as deaf or hard of hearing.

Those statistics make it increasingly important for visitors to the Kentucky State Fair to stop by the Kentucky Commission on the Deaf and Hard of Hearing (KCDHH) and Heuser Hearing Institute booth for a free hearing screening in the Health Horizons area of the state fair exhibit hall's south wing. The fair runs from Aug. 16-26 at the Kentucky Exposition Center in Louisville.

Volunteers and staff from each organization, along with American Sign Language (ASL) interpreters, will be available to answer questions and distribute literature pertaining to hearing loss. Information on communication technologies and demonstrations of various assistive listening devices and telecommunications equipment are scheduled. Requests for applications will be taken at the KCDHH portion of the booth for anyone who needs equipment to assist with hearing on the telephone, a free service to Kentuckians.

Sprint Relay representatives will also provide information and demonstrations of technology used to access the relay service, which provides equitable access to telecommunications for deaf, hard of hearing and speech-impaired Kentuckians.

The Heuser Hearing Institute will have licensed audiologists on site daily to conduct hearing screenings. Last year, more than 2,000 people were screened for hearing loss during the state fair. Audiologists also use a video otoscope to give fair goers a live view of the ear's interior.

Humana Senior Discount Day at the fair is Aug. 21, and KCDHH encourages all senior citizens to stop by the booth for a hearing screening.

"The Kentucky State Fair is one of our biggest, most important outreach opportunities," said Virginia L. Moore, KCDHH executive director. "We welcome all inquiries about deafness and hearing loss and look forward to seeing and serving the residents of our state at this major event."

"Breaking down barriers to good communication for deaf and hard of hearing people is very important, and the information available at our state fair booth can help folks level the communication playing field."

For information on the fair, visit www.kystatefair.org. For information on KCDHH, visit www.kcdhh.org or contact Tom Musgrave, KCDHH Information Office Supervisor, at (502) 573-2604 or tom.musgrave@ky.gov.

Pennsylvania's nine signers of the Declaration of Independence

Among the signers of the Declaration of Independence of Pennsylvania there were nine representatives from Pennsylvania with the best known of them no doubt being Benjamin Franklin. Born in Boston in 1706, he was the tenth of seventeen children born to Josiah Franklin, a soap maker, and his second wife, Abiah Folger. It was Josiah's desire that his son enter into the clergy, but clergymen needed years of schooling and the father could only afford to send his son for one year. Therefore, young Franklin was apprenticed to his brother James, a printer. He would help his brother compose pamphlets and set type which was grueling work and then 12-year-old Benjamin would sell their products in the streets of the city.

When Benjamin was 15 his brother started The New England Courant, the first "newspaper" in Boston. Benjamin wanted to write for the paper, but knowing his brother would never allow a lowly apprentice to do so, he wrote letters secretly under the name of Silence Dogood. The letters were a great success. Everyone wanted to know the identity of Silence Dogood. After 16 letters, Benjamin confessed that he had been writing the letters drawing for himself a good deal of positive attention of which his brother was jealous. In time James' harassing of his younger brother and beating him from time to time caused young Ben to run away. In 1723, running away was illegal. In early America everyone was expected to have a place in society which run-arounds did not have.

Franklin was an enterprising man who thrived on work. He was an avid reader, inquisitive and skeptical. One of his chief accomplishments was to help launch the Library Company in 1731. Books were scarce and expensive. Franklin recognized that by pooling together resources, members could afford to buy books from England and thus was born the nation's first subscription library.

There were many civic contributions made by Benjamin during the 1730s and 1740s. He started projects to pave, clean and light the streets of Philadelphia and seeing the need for caring for the sick he brought together a group who formed the Pennsylvania Hospital in 1751. In 1736, Franklin organized Philadelphia's Union Fire Company, the first in the city and in 1752, he helped found the Philadelphia Contribution for Insurance Against Loss by Fire. This contribution is still in business today. A famous saying attributed to the man, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," was actually fire-fighting advice. Benjamin Franklin is possibly best known for his inventions. His kite experiment which verified the nature of electricity and lightning brought him international fame.

In the 1750s Franklin began to take more of an interest in politics. He traveled to England in 1757 as a representative on behalf of Pennsylvania and remained there until 1775 considering himself at that time to be a loyal Englishman. In time, he began to see the corruption there. It was the actions of Thomas Hutchinson, an English-appointed governor of Massachusetts that was the deciding factor. Hutchinson pretended to take the side of the people of Massachusetts while actually working for the king. This drove Franklin to become more dedicated to his work at uniting the colonies.

Sadly Franklin's loyalty to the colonies was not without its price. His eldest son, William, the Royal governor of New Jersey remained a loyal Englishman. The men's varying views caused a rift between them that was never to be healed.

Having been elected to the Second Continental Congress, he worked on a committee of five that helped to draft the Declaration of Independence. Much of the writing may have been that of Thomas Jefferson, but Franklin contributed greatly. In his later years, Franklin served as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention and was a signer of the Constitution. One of his last public acts was writing an anti-slavery treatise in 1789.

Benjamin Franklin was a humble American who dressed like a backwoods man, but was a match for any wit in the world. He died on April 17, 1790 at the age of 84 with 20,000 people in attendance at his funeral. Even today, his gift to mankind lights up our world.

Less known among the signers from Pennsylvania were George Clymer, Robert Morris, Benjamin Rush, James Smith, George Taylor, John Morton, George Ross and James Wilson, but all were contributors none the less to the beginning of what was to become the greatest nation in the world.

These men were of various ages, backgrounds and educations. Clymer, Rush, Morton and Ross were born Americans, whereas Wilson was born in Scotland, with Taylor and Smith emigrating from Ireland, and Robert Morris being a born Englishman. Many of them received informal educations in their homes while others attended universities.

An education did not necessarily secure a career as in the case of James Smith, who had a law office set up in Cumberland County, near Shippensburg in Pennsylvania. Smith spent much of his time working at surveying being able to practice to law only when such work was available in the still frontier area. Some, such as George Taylor, served in political offices more from civic duty than personal interest. An ironmaster, he served his nation when called, but spent the greater of his time in iron production. John Morton, who's father died before he was born, was educated in surveying by his stepfather. As a delegate to the Continental Congress during the American Revolution, he provided the swing vote that allowed Pennsylvania to vote in favor of the United States Declaration of Independence. Morton signed the Declaration and chaired the committee that wrote the Articles of Confederation.

For many the choice to separate from England was not an easy one. George Ross, a man educated at home who read law in his brother's law office and attained the Bar in Pennsylvania at the age of 20, was a typical gentleman of the day with his politics being Tory. He had been loyal to the King but he soon became disgusted with Tory politics and supported the cause of the Patriots. Ross was the last of the Pennsylvania delegation to affix his signature to the Declaration of Independence. Others seemed more readily willing to involve themselves in the rebellion. George Clymer, who was educated for mercantile profession was a patriot partisan and leader in the disturbance in Philadelphia resulting from the Tea Act and the Stamp Act.

Despite having a wide influence on the development of American government, Benjamin Rush is not as widely known as many of his American contemporaries. A physician with a private practice in Philadelphia, he practiced exten-

"As a governor, I am naturally inclined to focus on the domestic side of protecting the United States."
~ Bill Owens

sively amongst the poor. He published the first American textbook on Chemistry and was an early opponent of slavery and capital punishment. Rush may be more famous today as the man who, in 1812, helped reconcile the friendship of Thomas Jefferson and John Adams by encouraging the two former presidents to resume writing to each other.

The Englishman, Robert Morris, was a man of wealth and integrity in Philadelphia during the revolutionary period. He played an essential role in the success of the War against England and in placing the new United States on a firm footing in the world. Morris, almost single handed, saw to the financing of the Revolutionary War, and the establishment of the United States after. In 1781 he devised a plan for a National Bank that became The Bank of North America which would ultimately establish the credit of the United States with the nations of Europe.

Taking up the revolutionary cause, Wilson published in 1774 "Considerations on the Nature and Extent of the Legislative Authority of the British Parliament." In this pamphlet, Wilson argued that the Parliament had no authority to pass laws for the American colonies because the colonies had no representation in Parliament. It presented his views that all power derived from the people. Though considered by scholars on par with the seminal works of Thomas Jefferson and John Adams of the same year, it was actually penned in 1768, perhaps the first cogent argument to be formulated against British dominance.

James Wilson was another of the Founding Fathers of the United States and was elected twice to the Continental Congress. A leading legal theorist, he was one of the six original justices appointed by George Washington to the Supreme Court of the United States. Wilson was a firm advocate for independence. Believing it was his duty to follow the wishes of his constituents, Wilson refused to vote until he had caucused his district. Only after he received more feedback did he vote for independence.

These men and many like them made contributions which every American can be grateful these many years later as can future generations.

Buckler family extends "thank you"

We, the family of Brandon Ray Buckler, want to say thank you so very much from the bottom of our hearts to family, friends, special thanks to Broken Horn Rodeo, Carrie Ackerson and family, Tina and Jesse Ever-sole and Mentor Church for helping with the rodeo and funeral and a special thanks to Brandon's Buddies. There are a lot of people to thank but there are not enough words to say thank you. But thank you so much.

God bless you all,
The Buckler Family

Box turtle makes a nest for her eggs on nearby lawn

Have you ever seen a turtle make a nest and lay her eggs? Well, one of our subscribers brought the newspaper a photo of this mother box turtle, above, that had scratched out a hole in which to lay her eggs in. Our subscriber caught the process on film and thought it might be of interest to our readers.

Before the turtle laid the eggs she watered down the area to dig out the nest. There were a total of four eggs laid and each time she lay an egg she used her hind leg to scratch some dirt over it. Then when she finished she covers more dirt over the eggs. The eggs will hatch in approximately 90 days.

We have ask our subscriber to be on the watch and bring us a photo of the babies. The mother turtle doesn't see her babies. When they are born they are on their own.

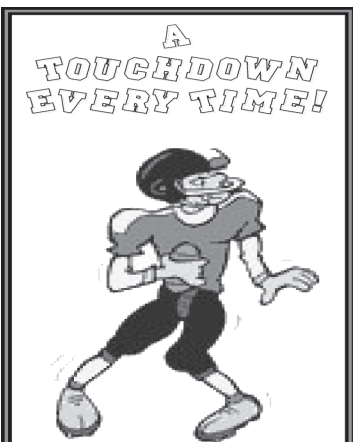

Below is just a bit of information on the box turtle.

The eastern box turtle is one of two species of box turtles found in the United States. It is the only "land turtle" found in North Carolina, where it is the state reptile. Box turtles are slow crawlers, extremely long lived, slow to mature, and have relatively few offspring per year. These characteristics, along with a propensity to get hit by cars and agricultural machinery, make all box turtle species particularly susceptible to anthropogenic, or human-induced, mortality.

Recognizing National Immunization Awareness Month in August

August is typically recognized as National Immunization Awareness Month (NIAM). This awareness month highlights the need for improving national immunization coverage levels and encourages all people to protect their health by being immunized against infectious diseases.

While CDC does not sponsor this month, CDC does support and encourage the efforts of state and local health departments and other immunization partners to celebrate NIAM and use this month to promote back to school immunizations, remind college students to catch up immunizations before they move into dormitories, and remind everyone that the influenza season is only a few months away. It's a great reminder to our nation that people of all ages require timely immunization to protect their health.

CDC has developed immunization materials for year-round use by our immunization partners. These materials and resources target groups throughout the lifespan and can be used by immunization partners to support local outreach and education efforts during NIAM and beyond.

National Immunization Awareness Month is the perfect time to promote immunizations and remind family, friends, and coworkers to get caught up on their shots.

Immunizations (or vaccinations) aren't just for babies and young kids. We all need shots to help protect us from serious diseases and illness. Everyone over age 6 months needs a seasonal flu shot every year. Here are some other shots people need at different ages:

Children under age 6 get a series of shots to protect against measles, polio, chicken pox, and hepatitis.

All 11- and 12 year olds need shots to help protect against tetanus, diphtheria, whooping cough, and meningitis.

Doctors recommend girls also get the HPV vaccine to protect against the most common cause of cervical cancer.

All adults need a tetanus shot every 10 years.

People age 65 need a one-time pneumonia shot.

Talk to your doctor or nurse about which shots you and your family need.

Talk to your teen about the HPV vaccine.

Take action to raise awareness of immunizations.

Organize a free or low-cost immunization clinic at a local community or health center.

Create and distribute an immunization tracking card. Include space for people to record the names and dates of their shots along with helpful facts and phone numbers.

Partner with a school nurse to host an immunization education event for parents at a local school.

Create and distribute an immunization reminder flyer to all the members of your organization.

Work with local summer camps to provide tips on the immunizations children need before they attend camp.

Listed here are the vaccine requirements for Kentucky.

Diphtheria, Tetanus, Pertussis (DTaP): Day Care, Head Start, K-12.

Day Care, Head Start: 3-5 months of age: one dose of DTP or DTaP. 5-7 months of age: 2 doses. 7-16 months of age: 3 doses due. 16 months to before 5th birthday: 4 doses due. K-12- 4 doses, 1 dose after 4th birthday; 3 doses if 3rd dose after 7 years of age. Children between 7 and 11 years of age - 5 doses of DTaP or DTP or combinations of the two vaccines; or a dose of Td that was preceded by 2 doses of DTP, DTaP, DT, or Td or combinations of the four vaccines. For 6th grade entry, one dose of Tdap required.

Hepatitis: A None/No Requirements None/No Requirements.

Hepatitis B: Day Care, Head Start, K-12.

K-12 -2 doses by 19 months of age. 49 months - 5 years: 3 doses.

Hib: Day Care, Head Start.

Day Care, Head Start- 3-5 months: 1 dose due. 5-7 months: 2 doses due. 7-12 months, 3 doses due. 12-16 months: 5 doses due.

Measles, Mumps, Rubella (MMR): Day Care, Head Start, K-12, Sixth Grade.

Day Care, Head Start - 1 dose on or after 1st birthday. K-12- 2nd dose measles required before age 5.

Meningococcal: Sixth Grade. One dose of MCV or MPSV. Pneumococcal: Day Care, Head Start, K-12.

Day Care, Head Start - 3 doses by 12 months of age and 4 doses of PCV with one (1) dose on or after twelve (12) months of age.

Polio: Day Care, Head Start, K-12.

Day Care, Head Start- 3-5 months of age: 1 dose of OPV or IPV due. 5-19 months of age: 2 doses due. 19-49 months: 3 doses due. K-12- 4 doses, unless 3rd dose after 4th birthday, then 3 doses.

Varicella: Day Care, Head Start, K-12.

Day Care, Head Start -16 to 48 months of age - One (1) dose of varicella, unless a health care provider states that the child has had a diagnosis of typical varicella disease or verification of a history of varicella disease by a health care provider or a diagnosis of herpes zoster disease or verification of a history of herpes zoster disease by a health care provider. K-12 - 2 doses.

Protection received from childhood vaccines decreases over time. Preteens, teens and adults may need to be revaccinated, even if they were completely vaccinated as children. For more information about immunizations, contact the Kentucky Department for Public Health's Immunization Program at (502) 564-4478 or your local health department.

Cleft and cranio-facial awareness

Thousands of Americans, from infants to adults, are affected by cleft and craniofacial conditions. Some of these conditions are congenital, meaning they are present at birth, and others are the result of trauma. July is National Cleft and Craniofacial Awareness and Prevention Month. Children with Cleft or Craniofacial Conditions Face Challenges

Craniofacial conditions include a broad range of problems with the skull and face. Cleft lip and palate is the most common jaw problem in children. It's a birth defect resulting in a space in the lip and/or palate because the bone and tissue in the mouth don't meet. The defect can be as innocuous as a small notch in the lip to a groove in the roof of the mouth.

A study published in the June 2012 issue of Otolaryngologic Clinics of North America purports that the problems associated with cleft or craniofacial conditions are not simply cosmetic. According to the study, patients can face multiple medical problems, including airway, speech, and feeding problems. Social and psychological complications are also common, according to the article.

Craniofacial defects are conditions present at birth that affect the structure and function of a baby's head and face. Two of the most common craniofacial defects are orofacial clefts, which occur when the lip and mouth do not form properly, and craniosynostosis, which happens when the bones in the baby's skull fuse too early. Microtia is when the external portion of the ear does not form properly, and anotia occurs when the external portion of the ear is missing.

Treatments and services for children with craniofacial defects can vary depending on the severity of the defect; the presence of associated syndromes or other birth defects, or both; as well as the child's age and other medical or developmental needs. Children with certain craniofacial defects can have a greater risk for physical, learning, developmental, or social challenges, or a mix of these.

Roughly one in 600 babies born in the United States is born with a cleft lip or cleft palate, according to the Cleft Palate Foundation. Patients with cleft lip and palate are at an increased risk for sinus and throat conditions, and multidisciplinary treatment is advised.

Cleft lip and palate is a birth defect, but some steps can be taken before childbirth to reduce the risk of cleft and craniofacial conditions, as well as other birth defects. Here are a few from the Mayo Clinic:

Don't use tobacco or drink alcohol while pregnant. Both tobacco and alcohol can cause your baby to be born with a cleft lip or palate.

Take prenatal vitamins. Regular consumption of a daily multivitamin before conception and during pregnancy can help reduce the risk of birth defects, including cleft lip and palate.

Consider genetic counseling. Tell your doctor if you have a family history of cleft lip and palate. Your physician can refer you to a genetic counselor who might be able to assess your chances of having a child with cleft lip and palate.

Sarcomas; maglignant (cancerous) tumors of connective tissues

Malignant (cancerous) tumors of the connective tissues are called "sarcomas." There are more than 50 sub-types of sarcoma. According to the American Cancer Society, about 11,280 people will be diagnosed with sarcoma this year and slightly more men than women develop soft tissue sarcoma. Sarcomas are cancers that are much more likely to affect children and young adults than many other more common cancers. Sarcoma is a very rare disease. Due to its rarity, it is crucial for patients to seek a cancer specialist in the treatment of their disease.

Sarcoma arises in the connective tissue of the body. The connective tissue includes muscle, bone, fat, nerve, cartilage, blood vessel, and deep skin tissue. Connective tissue is present throughout the body, so sarcoma can occur in any location. Sarcomas are divided into two main groups: bone sarcomas and soft tissue sarcomas.

Two thirds of sarcomas are located in the extremities (arms or legs). Because it is so rare and it takes multiple forms in multiple locations, sarcoma is difficult to detect, often misdiagnosed and complex to treat.

Possible signs of adult soft tissue sarcoma include a lump or swelling in soft tissue of the body.

A sarcoma may appear as a painless lump under the skin, often on an arm or a leg. Sarcomas that begin in the abdomen may not cause symptoms until they become very large. As the sarcoma grows larger and presses on nearby organs, nerves, muscles, or blood vessels, symptoms may include: pain and trouble breathing

Possible signs of osteosarcoma and MFH include pain and swelling over a bone or a bony part of the body. These and other symptoms may be caused by osteosarcoma or MFH. Other conditions may cause the same symptoms. A doctor should be consulted if any of the following problems occur: swelling over a bone or bony part of the body, pain in a bone or joint and a bone that breaks for no known reason.

Scientists still don't know exactly what causes most cases of soft tissue sarcoma and the exact cause of most osteosarcomas is not known. The only way to prevent some sarcomas is to avoid exposure to risk factors whenever this is possible. However, most sarcomas develop in people with no known risk factors, so there is no way known at this time to prevent most cases. And for people receiving radiation therapy, there is usually little choice.

People with a strong family history of sarcomas or other cancers occurring at a young age may wish to discuss the benefits and disadvantages of genetic testing with their doctor. The genetic testing results should always be explained by a genetic counselor or a specially trained doctor who can interpret the results and advise high-risk patients about early cancer detection.

Families with a history of certain inherited conditions caused by mutated tumor suppressor genes have an increased risk of developing soft tissue sarcomas. The mutated genes can be detected by genetic testing, so family members should discuss this option with their doctors. They should let their doctor know about any lumps or growths right away.

No screening tests and exams are recommended for people who have no family history of sarcoma or other sarcoma risk factors. For these people, the best approach to early detection is to notify their health care professional of any unexplained lumps or growths or other symptoms that may be caused by a soft tissue sarcoma.

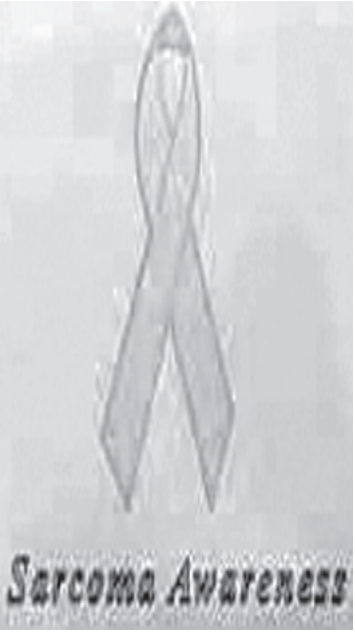

Risk factors for osteosarcoma include the following:

Age and height: The risk of osteosarcoma is highest during the teenage growth spurts. Children with osteosarcoma are usually tall for their age. There may be a link between rapid bone growth and the risk of tumors forming.

Gender: Osteosarcoma is more common in males than in females.

Race/ethnicity: Osteosarcoma is slightly more common in African Americans than in whites.

Radiation to bones: Young people who were treated with radiation for an earlier cancer have a higher risk of getting osteosarcoma later. Normal X-rays do not seem to increase the risk.

Certain bone diseases: Children and teens with certain non-cancer bone diseases have an increased risk of getting osteosarcoma later, usually as an adult. Some of these diseases include Paget disease of bone and multiple hereditary osteochondromas.

Certain cancer syndromes: Children with certain rare, inherited cancer syndromes have an increased risk of getting osteosarcoma. One of these syndromes is Li-Fraumeni syndrome. When children with retinoblastoma (a rare eye cancer) are treated with radiation it raises the chance of osteosarcoma in the bones of the skull.

Some tips to make the "back to school" transition go a bit smoother

It's school time again! You're probably feeling excited and maybe a little sad that summer is over. Some kids feel nervous or a little scared on the first day of school because of all the new things: new teachers, new friends, and maybe even a new school. Luckily, these "new" worries only stick around for a little while. Let's find out more about going back to school.

The First Day

Most teachers kick off the school year by introducing themselves and talking about all the stuff you'll be doing that year. Some teachers give students a chance to tell something about themselves to the rest of the class.

When teachers do the talking on the first day, they often go over classroom rules so you'll know what's allowed and what's not. Pay close attention so you'll know if you need to raise your hand to ask a question and what the rules are about visiting the rest room.

You might already know a lot of kids in your classes on the first day. But it's a great day to make a new friend, so try to say hello to kids you know and new ones that you don't. Make the first move and you'll be glad you did and so will your new friend!

Moving to Middle School?

Sixth grade often signals a move to middle school or junior high, where you'll find lockers and maybe a homeroom. This is just what it sounds like — a classroom you'll go to each morning, kind of like your home in the school. In middle school, you might move from classroom to classroom for each subject. Your teachers know that this is a big change from elementary school and will help you adjust.

Most teachers let you pick your own seat on the first day, but by the second or third morning, they'll have mapped out a seating plan. At first, it's a good idea to write down where your seat is in your notebook so you don't forget.

Feeling Good on Day One

Seeing friends you haven't seen in a while can make the first day a good one. You also can make the day feel special by wearing an outfit you like. Maybe you got a great T-shirt on vacation, or your new sneakers put a spring in your step. If you wear a uniform, you might wear a favorite watch, a new hair band, or a piece of jewelry to show your personal style.

It can make you feel good to be prepared and have all the supplies you need. Some schools distribute supply lists before the year begins, so you can come stocked up on pencils, folders, and whatever else you'll be needing. Once you've covered the basics, you might tuck an extra few dollars in your backpack for an emergency (like forgetting your lunch money). Or maybe you'd like to bring along a book or magazine to read while you're on the bus.

Whatever you put in your backpack, make sure you pack it the night before. This prevents the morning panic when you can't find your homework or lunch box. Speaking of lunch, that's something else that can help you feel good at school — whether it's the first day or the 100th day. Help your parents pack it the night before if you don't like what's on the menu at the cafeteria. Try to include a variety of foods in your packed lunch, especially fruits and vegetables.

Get Oriented

The first day of school is your first chance to find your way around a new school, or learn the pathways to new classes in your Parents wanting to assist their children in working towards academic success may find the following tips helpful.

- Make sure your child has a quiet, well-lit place to do homework. Avoid having your child do homework with the television on or in places with other distractions, such as people coming and going.
- Make sure the materials you child needs, such as paper, pencils and a dictionary, are available. Ask your child if special materials will be needed for some projects and get them in advance.
- Help your child with time management. Establish a set time each day for doing homework. Don't let your child leave homework until just before bedtime. Think about using a weekend morning or afternoon for working on big projects, especially if the project involves getting together with classmates.
- Be positive about homework. Tell your child how important school is. The attitude you express about homework will be the attitude your child acquires.
- When your child does homework, you do homework. Show your child that the skills they are learning are related to things you do as an adult. If your child is reading, you read too. If your child is doing math, balance your checkbook.
- When your child asks for help, provide guidance, not answers. Giving answers means your child

The start of a new school year is an important time for planning and preparation. Whether you're a parent or educator, use these resources and tips to prepare for the new school year.

Check-Ups and Immunizations: Vaccines are important not only for the health of your child, but also for his or her classmates. Last year there were outbreaks of whooping cough and measles, which caused dozens of deaths among adults and children. Vaccinations could have helped prevent those outbreaks.

It's a good idea to take your child in for a physical and eye exam before school starts. If your child will be participating in a sports activity, your family doctor may have to sign a release form to permit your child to participate.

Most schools require your child's immunization shots are up-to-date. Remember that each state has different immunization requirements. Let your health care provider know if you have any questions or concerns about the vaccines your child is scheduled to receive.

School entry may require documentation of immunization records, so be sure to contact your school ahead of time to find out what might be required, and be sure to bring any school forms for your health care provider to fill out and sign. Failure to keep immunizations up-to-date could result in your child not being able to attend school. It's also helpful to keep a copy of the records for yourself and your child's school.

Financial Assistance for Families: Children

No, seriously. Cooking is actually the solution to all your ills - it's cheaper than the burger van, it's healthier than the burger van, and you get to eat something other than burgers once in a while!

Here are 10 great ideas to get you started. They're all ridiculously easy to make, none of them require special equipment or training, and they may just save you - and your digestion - a pretty penny.

10. Beans on toast: Obviously studentbeans.com is big on beans. In fact, they consider themselves to be chief bean advocates, which is one of the reasons why 'beans on toast' had to make it onto our list. It's cheap (if you don't go for Heinz) and ridiculously easy.

9. Omelette: An omelette is quick and easy and can be tailored specifically to your tastes.

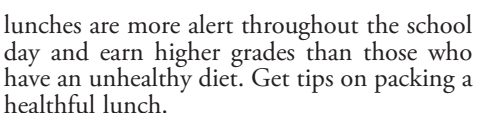

8. Soup: Yes yes yes, you can buy cans or cartons of soup (watch out for high salt content). But everything tastes better when you've cooked it. This is a scientific fact. It also costs a hell of a lot less, which can also be proved through science (well, counting). Serve with toast on top.

7. Jacket potato: We know the microwave is right there, but seriously, potatoes are rubbish when you cook them in that fast-food machine.

6. Mushroom risotto: Risotto is surprisingly easy to make. You can always vary the ingredients, experimenting with the likes of chicken, prawns or other vegetables.

5. Toad in the hole: Toad in the hole has to be one of our favourite winter recipes. The following who eat well perform better at school. That's why the National School Lunch Program provides free, low-cost and nutritional lunches to eligible students (usually children from a family of four that makes about $29,055-$41,348 per year). Find out if your family qualifies for the National School Lunch Program or subsidized health care. If you choose to send lunches to school with your children plan healthful lunches. Remember that nutrition is an important factor in academic performance. Studies have shown that children who eat healthful, balanced breakfasts and

4. Boiled egg: According to a 2011 Sainsbury's Finance survey, 14 per cent of new students haven't ever boiled an egg.

3. Burgers: Home-made burgers are the best. It's just a fact. And it's SO ridiculously easy that it makes you wonder why you ever bought them in the first place.

2. Fajitas: Forget Old El Paso and his tired band of donkeys - it's easy enough to create your own fajitas. What's more you get to control the level of spice that goes in.

1. Spaghetti Bolognese: And finally we come to the king of all cheap'n'easy dishes. Oh, and of course add cheese for extra YUM.

Ladycats golf with same goals

With the loss of three seniors that hold numerous team records and have been a part of much of the Ladycats success over the past seven years as well as head coach Keith Smith who moved up to the Pendleton district athletic administrator position, you would think that the Ladycat golf program would take a step back. But with two players who have played in the state tournament, Senior Maggie Miles and Junior Ariel Ramsey, as well as a group of young golfers who are ready for their opportunity, new head coach Keaton Belcher is not changing the focus of the team in the least.

"Expectations this year are not any different than previous years. We want to qualify for the state tournament as a team. Luckily, we have several golfers that have been in the LadyCat program for a while now so we do have some experience returning. We will use our experience and talented players to work each day to obtain our goal," coach Belcher pointed out.

Besides Maggie and Ariel, Mackenzie Moore, freshmen, Holley Hart, 8th grader and Morgan Cobb, 8th grader will round out the varsity quartet.

The JV team this season consists of MacKenzie, Holley, Morgan, Whitney Manor, 7th grade and Shelby Johnson, 6th grade. Mackenzie, Holley and Morgan will play both JV and Varsity this season gaining the extra playing time to continue to develop individually.

Whitney and Shelby will just play JV. Whitney Manor has a good foundation to build upon with a good swing. Once she gets stronger she has the ability to be a very good player. Shelby Johnson is the youngest player on the team and has a strong willing to improve her game.

With the dedication from the players, Coach Belcher knows that the foundation is there to continue the Ladycats golf success. "Our main goals for the season are to qualify for the state tournament as a team and improve each day. We also want to develop our younger golfers to build a stronger program that has already been established by previous LadyCat golfers."

Although some things have changed, others have stayed the same. Scott County, four consecutive 8th Region Championships, will host the regional tournament at Canewood in Georgetown and be the favorite. Mason

Pendleton Wildcats ready to begin football season

By Bruce Reller, Jr., Reporter

The Pendleton County High School Wildcat football team is ready to begin their season. They have been preparing and are ready to take the field once again.

"I'm proud of this bunch. We are down in numbers, 28 or 29 kids," Wildcat head coach Terry Brown said. "We are working hard every-day."

Coach Brown said he graduated a lot of skilled players and only returns four seniors this year. Brown said his seniors need to be leaders and teach the young guys how to do things.

Senior Austin Pyles, the Wildcats leading scorer, will be in the backfield and will play tail-back. Senior Joe Cornine will be playing defense at linebacker.

Senior Aaron Teegarden is another big body for the Wildcats, and Senior Juan Sanchez will help out on the offensive line. Also, Junior Adam Koeninger will step up at quarterback.

"Our expectations are to play our best ball at the end of the year. We want to be .500 or better and make the playoffs," Brown explained. "We definitely want to win on Senior Night."

The Wildcats will begin the regular season at Carroll County and at Ludlow. They will then come home to play Cincinnati County Day, play on the road against Morgan County, and then Homecoming is against rival Bishop Brossart.

"Five games there, and on the back part, Harrison County and Bracken County," Brown said. "They are very winable. We can compete with those guys."

PC had a chance to beat Brossart last season and fumbled at the one-yard line late in the game. The Wildcats had quite a few games last year that could have gone in their favor.

The Cats will also play state champion Highlands and Covington Catholic back to back in district play. Holmes will be another tough district match-up.

"It's a privilege to play them. We can learn something," Brown explained. "Holmes is down in numbers. We should be able to compete with them. The greatest athlete doesn't always win in sports. It's definitely doable."

Pendleton County will play a home scrimmage against Dayton this Friday. This will help them prepare for the upcoming season.

"We are working hard and coming together," Brown said. "We are going to come out and prove we are ready for Friday night. We will play our best ball and we will be happy with the results."

County, four consecutive 8th Region 2nd place finishes, has a strong nucleus and will look to finally knock Scott County out of that top perch. Pendleton County, four consecutive 8th Region 3rd place finishes, will need to move in front of either to qualify for the KHSAA State Championship in October.

Individually, three of the four individual qualifiers for the state tournament have graduated with only Ariel Ramsey returning. Maggie's individual qualifying two seasons ago puts her among the favorites to claim one of those four spots. Mackenzie and Holley will be battling for the other two spots with other golfers around the region. Brossart, Clark and Harrison County all have individual golfers that can make a claim on one of the four spots.

The Ladycats started their state tournament push with a 7th place finish at Eagle Creek in the Grant County Invitational. They showed their strength as only four strokes separated Ariel (low Ladycat round), Maggie, MacKenzie and Holley.

Two days later, PC played in the Mason County Invitational at Maysville Country Club without Ariel who was sick. The course played tough and they August 10: PC varsity football game at 7 p.m.

August 9: PC Volleyball away game

August 11: Ladycat golf at 9 a.m.

Jairus Sherman named Bucs MVP

The Northern Kentucky Bucs won the 28 Team All American Classic Tournament played at Delhi Park in Cincinnati. Jarius Wilder, of the Bucs, was chosen Tournament MVP of the 28 teams.

Jairus pitched, played first base and centerfield during the tournament. He hits .750 with four doubles and one home run. He also scored the winning run in two games (including the championship game) and drove in the winning run in another. He had one win pitching.

The Northern Kentucky Bucs finished their season 36-5, winning four tournaments, the Nations Kentucky State Tournament, the Midwest Classic, the All American Classic and the Southwest Ohio American League Tournament. The Bucs finished their season on a 15 game winning streak. The Bucs are coached by Brad Sherman, Jairus' step-father.

Jairus is the son of Page (Houchen) Sherman and Mark Wilder, grandson of Steve and Cindy Houchen.

Farwell will be best used on the team's defensive front. "Jacob brings a veteran presence to our defense and is also one of our team captains. He's someone that our guys rally around and to for leadership," said Feltner.

Leading the way on offense this season will be the dynamic scoring duo of senior Aven Harper and junior Travis Brinkman.

Harper led the team last year with 24 goals, and he and Brinkman will be counted on to fill the shoes of other notable scoring pairs in recent years. "I believe that Aven and Travis can be reminiscent of the duo we had in 2008, Matt Feltner and Korey Workman. They led us to an unbelievable season and there's no reason we can't repeat that type of success this year," said Feltner.

The road to the postseason looks to be tougher for the 'Cats than in years past. The KHSAA applied shifts to the district which saw Harrison County added to the mix and Grant County and Walton-Verona moved out. Four schools were added to the region: Bishop Brossart, Campbell County, Scott High and Calvary Christian.

"Things definitely got a lot more interesting this year. We will be competing against some very tough teams throughout the season and it will make for some outstanding postseason tournaments," said Feltner.

The 'Cats start the season on August 16th on the road at Newport Central Catholic and for the first time in school history will take on Highlands during regular season play on August 18.

RELIGION

BLANKET CREEK
The Holy Spirit's presence was surely felt last Sunday when Mike Bruin and Chris Scroggins came forward and professed their faith in Jesus Christ requesting to be baptized. Continue praying for them and other lost people in our church and community.

Margie McNeese and Zelma King were added to the prayer list and the families of Lorraine Ballinger, Faye Oldham, Wanda Taylor and Ernest Holmes.

Special by Crissy Trent. Connor Whitaker also sang "Amazing Grace My Chains Are Gone."

We were blessed to have Bro. Fred Workman bring the message today. His message, "How Lost are the lost?," came from Romans 10: 1-4 and 9-13. If you have not accepted Christ as your Savior you are as spiritually lost as a blind person. We can lose electricity and be in total darkness but, that is nothing compared to the darkness we will find without Christ. There is always hope for the lost. Jesus is always standing there with His arms open wide ready to forgive and accept you.

We will be celebrating our annual homecoming August 26. Our speaker will be announced at a later date.

Please join us for Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. and church and youth group at 7 p.m.

BUTLER CHRISTIAN
Bro. Denny's sermon July 29 was titled, "What makes a Deacon and an Elder?," with scripture from Mark 7:1-6 and 1 Timothy 3:8-13. Liturgist, Billy Kirby; organist, Mary Kathryn Hardy; pianist, Sandy Russell; and acolyte, Jake Baird.

For special music we were blessed to have Alexis, Courtney and Jake sing two songs they learned in VBS.

Prayer concerns: All nursing home and assisted living residents, shut-ins, Robin Mulloy, Janet Courtney, Jim Teegarden, Military Personnel, Kim Thornton, James Meadows, Pat Lambert, our country, Michelle Caldwell, Ken Eng-

CWF will meet at 7 p.m., Wednesday, August 15.

Sunday school begins at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 p.m. Nursery is available.

BUTLER METHODIST
Greetings from Butler United Methodist Church.

What are you praying for and why? Are you praying to be made new? Be still and listen as you have a conversation with God.

Charge conference will be held on September 9, that is just around the corner so we are in a mode of preparation.

A "get acquainted" gathering was held at Alexandria UMC on Sunday, July 29 for our district superintendent.

The Garden Bible Study will meet on Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. and we are going to see the Reds play on Aug. 19.

Please pray for Bradon Love, Steve Hartzel, Brenda and Kens granddaughter, Brenda Hitch's grandson, Benjamin, Becky Taylor, Mike Wright and all the others mentioned on Sunday.

Have a great week and hope to see you Sunday.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST
We had a special treat this week at Falmouth Baptist Church. Dover Creek, a Bluegrass/Gospel group, presented a concert during our morning worship service. They were a true blessing and enjoyed by all. Worship comes in all forms.

Following our concert/worship service we enjoyed a fabulous fifth Sunday pot luck dinner. I can attest to the fact that Falmouth Baptist Church has some wonderful cooks. It was great to enjoy a time of fellowship together.

This is the last week of summer vacation for the children in our community. As school begins next

Bible school at Glenwood Baptist

Glenwood Bible school 6:30-8 p.m. nightly, August 13-16, 2012. The theme for VBS will be "God's Service Station," and Joe Decker will be our evangelist. "Go ye therefore..." Matthew 28:19

Hear how we can stay on the go for the Lord. We must regularly visit God's service station (the church).

Our church address is 82 Stewart Lane, Falmouth, 41040. We are located on a small street connecting Hay Station Road and Route 330. Our building sits behind the Health Department and The Water Company.

For more information call: Pastor Terry Parnell, (859)620-6033 or Clifford Wade, (859)322-2554. Everyone is welcome.

week, please keep the students, teachers, faculty and staff in your prayers. May the 2012-2013 school year be safe, healthy and happy for all. Teachers, faculty and staff remember, you might be the only "Jesus" many of these kids ever see. God Bless!

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN
Brother Rick's message was taken from the book of Revelations 21:9-27 and 22:1-19.

John went to the mountain and looked down at the holy city, nothing evil, immoral or wicked will ever be there. Are you ready to go home? You have to be saved by God to get there!

While Brenda is still on vacation, Adarin Williams graciously became our pianist. We were very, very thankful.

Michael Cummins truly blessed us with the special music. He and Adarin sang together, then Michael, Brother Rick and Adarin blessed us with another song. It was a great day of singing.

Please pray for our elected officials to have God at the top of their list. We can't get this country back to the way it should be, if they don't have God in their heart.

Read your Bible every day, it's good for the soul.

FIRST BAPTIST
Greetings! Adam Crozier blessed us with special music during our morning services. Bro. Harry's message was taken from Revelations.

When someone thinks of missionaries, they probably think it means going to a foreign country. We are blessed to have missionaries who can go overseas to teach the Lord's Gospel. God wants us all to be missionaries for Him by spreading the Good News and leading others to Christ. We can all be missionaries for the Lord.

At the close of our service, Randall Crozier came forward requesting believers baptism and membership into our church family. May God Bless and keep you, Randall.

Afterwards, we all gathered for our fifth Sunday meal. Everyone enjoyed a pot luck lunch and delicious barbequed pork, thanks to our grill master, Mark Moore.

Pray for those in need of faith, hope, love and peace. "Friends don't let friends miss out on heaven."

HARVEST COMMUNITY
Bro. Dale's sermon, "Knowing God is always near," based on scripture text in Psalm 23. It reminds us that we must allow God our Shepherd to guide us. When we choose to sin, we go our own way and cannot blame God for the environment we create for ourselves. Our

"Submit therefore to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you."

~ James 4:7

Shepherd knows the "green pastures and quiet waters" that will restore us.

Dates to remember: Men's meeting at 8 a.m., Saturday, August 18; there will be no morning Bible study, worship service will be at 9:30 a.m. and departure time for the Cincinnati Reds game/Mercy Me concert will be 11 a.m., August 19; and family fun night will be at 6 p.m., August 25 at Creekside Pavilion.

Prayer concerns are Steve Hartzel, Renee Fardo, Marilyn Wade, Wanda Jenkins, and the families of Ernest Lee Homes and Lorine Ballinger.

Come be our guest at 111 E. Shelby Street, Sundays for 9:30 a.m. Bible study, 10:30 a.m. worship service and Wednesday evenings at 6 p.m.

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

Bro. Mike's message Sunday, "Invited to leftovers," comes from John 6:1-14. "Leftovers!" Who of us hasn't had a few of those in our time? I'm sure when we were younger we were taught not to be wasteful. Wouldn't it be wonderful, if like Jesus, we could bless the leftovers and be able to feed the hungry in our world? But we just don't have food leftovers, we have leftovers like anger, envy, jealousy, etc. that we keep inside and won't let go. We can't work miracles, but Jesus can, if we will only let Him.

Thanks to Steve Work for our special music "I can only imagine."

Our sympathies to Charlotte Whaley on the loss of her brother. Our prayers for those with special health concerns and our service men and women and our country.

The Volley Ball team had games with Piner and Gumlick last week; the annual Godman "pig roast" is August 12, and no potluck dinner on August 19, only a board meeting.

MT. GILEAD

You would think being a pastor of a small congregation, which only holds services seven times a year, would be an easy thing. Doesn't quite work that way though.

Our next meeting will be on August 19. What a day that will be. It will be a big day, with dinner at 1 p.m. Everyone is to bring their best dish and when we put it all out on a wagon, what a mouth watering experience. I can't wait to eat.

Service will get started at 2:30 p.m. We will have something special this year. Two young men who grew up in the Galilean Home, both having a physical handicap, will tell of their experiences. They will also play and sing a special song for us. John, has metal legs, but still plays the guitar and sings.

Abdulle, has lost his arms and still has the ability to play the piano. Even more important, these are two of the most wonderful men I know. Don't miss the opportunity to see and hear their story.

Time permitting we will have regular services at the end the day. We have plans for a family reunion with John and Abdull, who kind of grew up with my grandsons, Chris and Jonathan.

One of the joys of being a ministers is serving those who come to your door. The other day Andrew Spencer came to our house and we talked and it led to his baptism. This was completed on Sunday July 29, at the boat ramp in the Licking River. It was high, but the service was wonderful. With assistance from my grandsons, Chris and Jonathan Peoples, we succeeded. Thank you, Andrew, for making the day so beautiful and spiritually wonderful.

MT. MORIAH

We are located at the intersection of Hwy 17N and 27N. Our service times are Sunday school at 10 a.m., worship at 10:45 a.m. and children's church at 10:45 a.m. as well.

The church phone number is 472-5910 and the address is 314 Hwy 17N, Butler, 41006.

Have a great week and God bless. "God's Word is the instrument by which God's Spirit transforms the Christian." Robert M. Horn

NEW ZION

"By this which will we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all." Hebrews 10:10

Please remember in prayer Kay Thomas, Kevin Grayson, Bill Jr., Kathy Barczak, Rick Nitzky, Alan Shrout, Paul Haubner, Gary Cummins, Andy Anderson, Amanda Jones, Scott James, Johnny Bruin, Mrs Spencer, Janet Morris, Janet Bishop, the Galloway family and all of our men and women in uniform. Also pray daily for our country and it's leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

What a great VBS we had! A great outreach.

"Do we practice what we preach?" was the sermon topic.

Congratulations to M/M Brandon Figgins upon the birth of Paige Elizabeth on July 25. Proud grand-

TURNER RIDGE

Sunday morning, July 22, Bro. Dale's message was "Rewards in heaven." The Scripture was taken from II Cor 5:8-10 and Brittany Baumgartner read the scripture from Matthew 5:11-12.

When we are born again our new life in Christ is a wonderful gift from God and we are expected to use that gift for God's Glory. Only an all-knowing God is able to look deep into our hearts and know how we have used our gifts, talents and abilities in His church and then reward us according to our own labor.

During the children's message Uncle Dale told the children that God is powerful enough to give us new life in Jesus when we become a child of God.

Sunday, July 29 was a great day with our fifth Sunday dinner and special services before and after the meal. Brady Koettel read Scripture from Matthew 25:31-40. Adam Bonar had the opening prayer and Carson Gabbard led the prayer time for those on the prayer list. The praise team lead the singing during both services and a number of people who went on the mission trip in June reported to the church about what they did and how the Lord blessed them on the trip.

During the children's message Loran Brown used Isaiah 54:10 to tell the children that the mountains and the hills may be removed but the love that God has for them will never pass away.

Visitors are always welcome to join us for worship and Bible studies Sunday morning at 10 and 11 a.m., Sunday evenings at 6:30 and 7:15 p.m. and Wednesday evenings at 7 p.m.

CARD OF THANKS

Caldwell Thanks

The family of Marcia Yelton Caldwell would like to express our gratitude for all the prayers, food, cards and thoughts from everyone, to Darlene Wright and Joan Wright for all your help during this difficult time and to Jerry Spegal for his sincere heartfelt words during the service. We also would like to especially thank all the staff of Peoples Funeral Home for their patience and understanding with the family during this difficult time. 25-1c.pd

Colvin Thanks

Our hearts are truly broken in the passing of Ryan. But it has helped to receive all the outpouring of care and love. A special thanks to all of his family, friends, neighbors, co-workers (Eaton Asphalt and Rodney Miles Body Shop), Antioch Christian Church, Rev. John Byard, Rev. Evan Meyers and the Woodhead Family. Most of all we thank you for your prayers. Ryan James truly loved and cared for everyone he met. Sincerely, Sami, Levi & Austyn Colvin, Roger and Marcia Colvin, Carter Ryan Petrey. 25-1c.pd

FHS Alumni Thanks

We want to thank everyone who helped in any way to make the 2012 Falmouth High School Reunion a success. To all of those who attended and those who gave generously to the scholarship fund we thank you. Sincerely, The Falmouth High School Alumni Committee. 25-1c.pd

Mann Family Thanks

The Mann Family wishes to thank the Falmouth Stations I and II and the Northern Pendleton Fire Departments for battling our house fire on Friday, July 13 on Highway 22 West. Thanks to the Red Cross for immediate assistance as our house fire is a total loss. Thanks to the community at large for the thoughts and prayers during this tragedy. Would the individual who removed the two push mowers and Stihl weed eater from the home that evening, please return them as the yard needs mowing and trimming. - Justin, Brianne, Sophia

MANAGEMENT TRAINEE

Job Description: Management Trainee for newspapers serving several regions in the Midwest

Do you love the media business? The Delphos Herald, Inc. is looking for several entry-level management trainees. The right candidate will learn all they need to know to run a community newspaper publishing operation. We are seeking savvy, hard-working self-starters with strong online computer skills, sales aptitude, excellent written and verbal communications skills, and good spelling ability. The right candidate must have great relationship skills and, above all, the competitive drive to win.

Starting salary is $24,000. Our average management trainee has doubled starting pay within a few years. The Delphos Herald, Inc. has locations in seven states and we need trainees to move into management positions at the locations in those states after an 18-month training period.

We offer an excellent compensation/benefits package, which includes most costs associated with relocating to our communities. This job is challenging and, while not for everyone, provides an opportunity to start a great career in the fast-changing media industry.

To apply, email rgeary@delphosherald.com. Please send a letter describing yourself and your accomplishments. Include details of experience from selling ads for your high school or college newspaper to being an officer of a club, scholastic honors earned or winning a cookie sales contest. Our screening process will include: aptitude tests and background checks, including credit history.

Heat, drought and blossom end rot

Normally, a hot dry year would favor vegetable production as long as growers have adequate irrigation. However, when daytime temperatures inch up over 100 degrees Fahrenheit like we've seen several days this year, we begin to see problems with many vegetable crops.

PolLEN begins to die and that affects fruit set and several disorders become apparent. One thing growers might see is blossom end rot, which is simply a rot at the blossom end of a fruit. Tomatoes usually suffer most, but eggplant, cucurbits and peppers can all succumb to the problem. It is technically caused by a calcium deficiency in the plant or the fruit. But in many cases, it's not a lack of calcium in the soil, but rather an environmental factor that stops the plant from taking up calcium. Plants take up calcium via their transpirational system. As plants move water through the roots to the leaves and out the stomata, calcium moves into the plant. But in areas of severe drought, blossom end rot will appear because there is no water to move the calcium to the plant. To make matters worse, calcium is immobile in the plant, meaning it can't move from an area of low demand to an area of high demand, so even temporary deficiencies can cause permanent damage.

When temperatures exceed 100 degrees, many plants will close stomata to conserve water, thus closing the path for calcium to get inside. So don't be surprised if you are seeing blossom end rot on your tomatoes that were developing during the most recent heat wave.

Unfortunately, there's nothing you can do to correct the problem; once blossom end rot appears it can't be reversed. The fruit is safe to eat, just cut off the bottom part and remember you are not able to commercially sell them.

Since summer is only two-thirds over, meteorologically speaking, there are some things you can do to prevent future occurrences of blossom end rot. If we see high temperatures again, try to minimize them for the plants by providing some kind of shade and giving them adequate water.

For more information about how extreme weather can impact your vegetables, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

SHELLEY MEYER, 4-H/YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

Be a good sport at the state fair

The Kentucky State Fair is quickly approaching, and it will be time for 4-H'ers to compete for state livestock awards. The 4-H livestock shows are some of the most widely recognized and anticipated events of the fair. While these competitions are meant to be a fun, learning experience for 4-H'ers, some get caught up in the competitive spirit of the event, which can cause anger and disappointment if a young person or animal doesn't place as high as expected. Judging is not an exact science. Judges are chosen because they have very extensive background in their specific species. They are breeders, producers and industry professionals. However, there is no "perfect" way to judge a livestock show. Judges have criteria to follow for each show, but some judges may emphasize certain criteria over others. The important thing is for the judge to remain consistent. Youth must be "good sports" and gracefully accept the judge's decision.

Judges look for different things in showmanship and non-showmanship livestock classes. In showmanship classes, judges focus on the appearance of the animal and the 4-H'er, the animal's behavior and the youth's ability to control the animal. In the non-showmanship classes, emphasis is placed solely on the animal and how close it comes to its species' standard.

Showmanship classes are a chance for youth to exhibit all the hard work they have put into getting an animal prepared for the show. Young people compete against other 4-H'ers that are around their same age. This competition is not based on who has the most impressive animal physically, but if the animal is clean and properly groomed. Judges also evaluate the animal's behavior, and in dairy and beef, if it demonstrates the correct demeanor and how well the youth is able to lead or control the animal in the show ring.

Judges for non-showmanship classes focus solely on the animal's physical conformation. In the breeding animal classes, animals are grouped based on the animal's age or weight. Breeding animals are judged according to how close they mirror the breed or species standards. Standard specifications are spelled out by the breed and species' associations. In market animal classes, animals are typically grouped based on weight and judged according to how closely they match the "ideal" market animal for that species. The criteria typically evaluated in market animals include muscling, leanness, growth and feet and leg structure.

As 4-H'ers across the state gear up for the Kentucky State Fair livestock shows, youth and parents should remember the life skills 4-H'ers learn while raising and preparing an animal for the shows are far more important than the outcome. For more information on livestock judging and 4-H livestock shows at the Kentucky State Fair, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Green up your home

Between running air conditioners, watering plants and keeping the kids cool on a hot summer day, many of us are seeing our energy and water usage rise with the temperatures. By making some small adjustments to your home, you can conserve more energy and water. Not only is this good for the environment, but it's good for your finances. Here are some tips for conserving energy and water at home during the warmer months:

- * Install white shades, blinds or drapes as these will help reflect heat from your home. Close them on south- and west-facing walls during the day to keep your home cooler.
- * Increase your thermostat setting by 4 degrees Fahrenheit and run a ceiling fan. This provides the same level of comfort while conserving energy. Keep televisions and lamps away from the thermostat as their heating may cause the thermostat to misread the actual room temperature and run longer.
- * Run washers, dryers and dishwashers only when you have full loads. You can cut down on dryer usage during warmer months by drying clothes on a clothesline or drying rack.
- * Unplug appliances and small electronics when not in use as 75 percent of the electricity used to power home electronics is consumed while they are turned off.
- * Lower the temperature on your water heater. Reducing the temperature by 10 degrees can provide savings of 3 to 5 percent in energy costs. If you're going to be gone for more than three days, you may be able to turn your water heater off and save additional energy and money. Check your manufacturer's instructions before doing so.

- * Water your plants from a rain barrel or from leftover water when you change your pet's water.
- * Put water in a small pool for your kids rather than run a sprinkler or hose.
- * Sweep sidewalks, porches, patios or driveways instead of washing debris away with a garden hose.
- * Compost produce scrap instead of putting them in a garbage disposal, as disposals use a lot of water.

For more information on energy or water conservation, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

By: Lovina Eicher

It is July 30 and 2012 is halfway over already. A happy fifth birthday to nephew Steven, Jacob and Emma's son. I find it hard to believe he will be starting school this fall. Time seems to go faster every year. It looks like a nice day to do laundry. Last week we had rain every day Monday through Friday. The rain gave our lawn a boost, so the boys will finish mowing the grass today. It has been quite a few weeks since they had to mow it last. Our third cutting of hay is cut and we hope to get it in tonight. My husband Joe thinks we won't have enough of our own due to the dry summer. Hay is very expensive to buy this year because of the drought.

Daughter Susan and Verena are still detasseling corn. It is getting to the end of the detasseling season, and they will be glad once they are done. They leave at 6 a.m. every morning and work six days per week. Last week with the rain their clothes were wet and they had muddy shoes when they came home.

Church services are set to be at Jacob and Emma's in two weeks so I want to help her get everything cleaned. She misses her two daughters help since they are detasseling also. This is a busy time of the year with the garden to take care of and canning season really beginning. I told Emma I will make fresh freezer pickles for her church lunch. My cucumbers are doing very well. Our green beans are coming along and we have had a few meals with the beans and also some red beets.

Joe likes when I make buttered beets with them. The boys have been digging up potatoes whenever we need some. Although later than usual we are getting some nice red potatoes. My squash didn't come up, but Emma and Jacob have been keeping us supplied with them. Last week the boys pulled all my onions out. I didn't get a good crop of those, but I am thankful for what I did get. Saturday we assisted Jacob with their work. We did take time off to go watch a parade in a nearby town. We butchered their 18 chickens which did not take us long with everyone helping. After the heads are off I don't mind doing the rest.

Saturday we had the 18 chickens done in 90 minutes. The children are getting better at knowing what to do. Joe and Jacob are working on the new patio that Jacob and Emma are building behind their house. I don't think those two minded getting out of the butchering chickens. Daughters Elizabeth and Susan's friends Timothy and Mose came and helped us with the butchering too. We appreciated them pitching in to help, as it made the work so much easier for us.

This week Loreta has an appointment two hours away at the children's hospital. Her braces are hurting her feet and legs so she doesn't wear them anymore because of that. The doctor didn't recommend more therapy other than what she has to do at home. While going to therapy they could loosen her muscles, but two days later they would be tightened up again. We want to see what the doctors suggestion is to do about the braces and go from there.

I will share a recipe I made to use some of the yellow squash Emma gave to us. You can add or take away ingredients to what you prefer.

CHICKEN SQUASH CASSEROLE

INGREDIENTS:

- 6 cups squash, peeled and shredded
- 2 cups diced, cooked chicken
- 1 /2 cup onion, chopped
- 1 /2 cup green peppers, chopped
- 2 10.75 ounce cans of cream of mushroom soup
- 2 cups shredded cheese
- Seasoning to taste

DIRECTIONS:

Preheat oven to 350. In a greased 9 X 13 inch baking pan, layer ingredients with the cheese on top. Bake at 350 for 25 minutes or until squash is tender.

Record summer heat brings mosquitoes along with it

If you're feeling extra mosquito-bit this summer, you're not alone. According to the National Pest Management Association (NPMA), record hot summer temperatures are bringing out the bugs.

Ants, fleas, ticks, earwigs and black widow are among the pests that are making a strong showing this year, according to the NPMA.

"Insects are cold-blooded, which means that their body temperatures are regulated by the temperature of their environment," NPMA public affairs officer Missy Henriksen said in a statement. "In cold weather, insects' internal temperatures drop, causing them to slow down. But in warm weather, they become more active. Larvae grow at a faster rate, reproduction cycles speed up, and they move faster."

Hot has been the watchword this year, with the first half of 2012 measuring up as the warmest on record for the United States. June 2011 to June 2012 was also the warmest 12-month period since record-keeping began in 1895, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

Drought across the country's midsection can also exacerbate pest problems, Henriksen said. When insects and arachnids can't find moisture outside, they often head indoors. Areas where rain is more frequent are likely to see increased mosquito breeding, she added.

About 64 percent of the continental United States was experiencing drought as of July 19. The unusually hot summer has also contributed to incidents of heat stroke, low water supply in some areas and blows to agriculture.

Health officials are warning about the risk of West Nile virus to Ohio residents after seeing a 460-percent increase in mosquitoes carrying the virus in pockets of the state.

The Ohio Department of Health says the number of mosquito samples testing positive for the sometimes-deadly virus at this point in the year went from 38 in 2011 to 213 this year. That's the highest number at this point since 2002.

The Ohio Department of Health confirmed earlier this month that mosquitos in Canton have tested positive for West Nile

Why did you choose to become a pharmacist?

I was raised by a wonderful, caring single mother and my uncle was a pharmacist and a positive male role model in my life. I worked in an independent pharmacy growing up and understood early on how much I enjoyed helping others.

Why do you enjoy working for Total Care Pharmacy?

Total Care Pharmacy's main focus is the well-being of our patients which I fully stand behind. We strive everyday to provide the best quality of care by addressing our patient's questions and concerns and communicating directly with the patients and physicians to facilitate the best possible use of their medications. I would like to thank our patients for allowing us the opportunity to become a part of their lives. At Total Care Pharmacy, we are dedicated to improving the health and wellness of our Grant County community!

Scott has enjoyed being actively involved in the Back to School Bash and Senior Bash in Grant County in recent years. In his free time, he likes to watch basketball and football, golf, hunt, and fish.

Why did you choose to become a pharmacist?

I started as a chemist but wanted more contact with people. I worked in retail but missed the science. Pharmacy allows me to combine the use of my technical/science knowledge and help/work with people.

Why do you enjoy working for Total Care Pharmacy?

I love working for Total Care because they are an independently owned pharmacy. I started my pharmacy career and training in an independent pharmacy. At Total Care, I get to know my customers and serve my community. They allow us to see our customers as real people and not just numbers!

Marla's area of expertise is Type 1 diabetes (insulin dependent). She has specialized training in diabetes education and understands the diabetic patient because she has diabetes herself. Marla is a board member of the Friends of the Grant County Animal Shelter and attends Crittenden Baptist Church. She loves cooking for her family and friends and is an avid reader and collector of books. She also enjoys collecting old pharmacy items.

Why did you choose to become a pharmacist?

I wanted a career that dealt with medicine and where I could help my family, friends and community. Pharmacy gave me that opportunity.

Why do you enjoy working for Total Care Pharmacy?

I like working for Total Care Pharmacy because it is an independent pharmacy whose number one concern is just like their slogan – dispensing care one patient at a time. It gives me the opportunity to develop relationships with my patients and coworkers and I feel like I am making a difference in my community. I have worked my entire career in the Grant County community and would like to thank my patients and friends for all of their support thru the years. Total Care Pharmacy will continue to be a place of care and support for many years to come!

Lisa is a member of Corinth Christian Church. She is a parent representative on the Site Based Council at Grant County Middle and High School. Lisa is married to her husband Chris and they have two children, Jansen and Kacia.

Why did you choose to become a pharmacist?

Pharmacists are the most accessible healthcare professionals. I like the one-on-one interaction with patients which provides me the opportunity to develop long standing relationships with the people of our community. The patients make the job so rewarding.

Why do you enjoy working for Total Care Pharmacy?

Total Care Pharmacy has provided me a wonderful environment in which to practice community pharmacy. We are like family. I like that I work at both the Dry Ridge and Crittenden locations. Being from Grant County, I like seeing familiar faces, friends, and family.

Missy is a member of the PTA where both of her two boys attend school. She enjoys watching them play basketball and hockey! Missy is also a Reds and UK basketball fan!

Why did you choose to become a pharmacist?

My little cousin was diagnosed with cancer when he was a year old. Everyone involved in his care was so helpful. I realized then I wanted to help people in the way he was cared for and decided pharmacy was the perfect career path in order for me to do so.

Why do you enjoy working for Total Care Pharmacy?

Total Care Pharmacy is a very family oriented environment. I like knowing my patients individually and every one I work with is wonderful! I am also very excited about our new home health services we are now providing in our Falmouth and Dry Ridge locations. Total Care Pharmacy is now able to provide our patients with everything from hospital beds, walkers and wheelchairs to oxygen and respiratory equipment!

Misty is a 4-H advisor and member of the Chatham Christian Church. When she is not working, she loves to work in her garden and read. She has two precious little girls- ages one and four years old.

Why did you choose to become a pharmacist?

I wanted to be able to help people and I hope to make a difference in my profession.

Why do you enjoy working for Total Care Pharmacy?

I love working for an independent pharmacy in my hometown of Falmouth. I have worked for Total Care Pharmacy for many years and I am excited to finally be one of the pharmacists on staff. At Total Care Pharmacy we focus on each patient and try to give them the best service possible. We offer lots of services from home medical equipment, diabetic shoes and counseling, and a delivery service. It is a great hometown pharmacy where our customers know we really care about them. Falmouth is home to me and I love being a part of this store!

Lacy is a member of the Turner Ridge Baptist Church and hopes now that she has completed her busy schedule with pharmacy school to become more involved in her church and community. Go White Sox! Lacy's husband plays for the White Sox as a relief pitcher.
